CENTENARY DAY IN MEMPHIS CONFERENCE

One of the interesting features of the Memphis Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which convenes at Jackson November 6, will be "Centenary Day," which will be observed on November 7. Bishop James Atkins of North Carolina will preside.

Among the speakers who will present the centenary program will be Dr. E. H. Rawlings, Dr. J. J. Stowe, Mrs. R. W. McDaniel of Nashville, Rev. J. T. Meyers from Japan and Miss Belle H. Bennett, president of the Woman's Missionary Council of Richmond, Ky.

The subjects to be discussed on Centenary Day will be "World Reconstruction After the War," "God's Call to the Church in a World's Crisis," "The Church's Opportunity to Get Out of Little-ness Into Bigness." Bishop Atkins will be one of the principal speakers. A leading layman will discuss "Can We Put It Over?" and a stereopticon lecture will show the needs of the mission fields.

This year's annual conference session promises to be one of the most interesting and important in the history of the organization. While the centenary movement is already well known to members of the conference, great interest will be aroused by the coming of these specialists who are highly trained in missionary activities.

The centenary movement includes a world program based on a careful survey of need and opportunity, and a vigorous campaign will be made to release the prayer power of the church by enrolling tens of thousands in the "Fellowship of Intercession" and training them as prayer helpers. The program also includes a "Stewardship Drive" to secure enrollment of millions of Methodists who will acknowledge their stewardship by the payment of the tithe.

During the next five years of the centenary celebration there will be an earnest appeal made for life service. Strenuous efforts will be made to recruit a large number of new workers for the ministry, home and foreign missions and service in the local church.

In the next five years Southern Methodists expect to raise thirty-five million dollars to be applied to war work, home and foreign missions and church extension.

S. L. Peeler of Camden has been selected as chairman of the executive committee for Benton County in the United War Work Campaign that will be launched here in connection with similar drives in every county in Tennessee, beginning November 11 and continuing to November 18, inclusive.

This will be the first united war welfare movement ever attempted in this country and is composed of seven powerful agencies, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Jewish Welfare Board, the American Library Association, the War Camp Community Service, the Salvation Army and Knights of Columbus.

This organization embracing every creed and denomination, was welded by President Wilson, the seven bodies working shoulder to shoulder in one big broad conception of real duty, real service to the American fighting men.

Other members of Benton's executive committee who have been appointed in addition to Mr. Peeler are A. S. Justice, Joe F. Odle, A. L. Hassell and J. V. Travis.

The executive committee has called a county convention for next week when a complete district organization will be announced and real work started toward making the drive a great success.

Next Sunday has been set aside when preachers of all creeds and denominations, regardless of race, are asked to deliver sermons or talks explaining the activities of these war welfare societies.

The sum of $170,500,000 is to be raised in the United States to sup-
